1

Do make investing all about your long-term path on the Stages of Financial Freedom®. Don't allow short-term noise or emotions interfere with smart, decisive action.

2

Don't try to outguess the market.

The market's pricing power works against mutual fund managers who try to outperform through stock picking or market timing. As evidence, only 17% of US equity mutual funds and 18% of fixed income funds have survived and outperformed their benchmarks over the past 15 years.

4

Resist chasing past performance and those marketing it.

Some investors select mutual funds based on past returns. However, research shows that most funds in the top quartile (25%) of previous five-year returns did not maintain a top-quartile ranking for one-year returns in the following year. Past performance offers little insight into a fund's future returns.

5

Let markets work for you and reward you.

The financial markets have rewarded long-term investors. People expect a positive return on the capital they supply, and historically, the equity and bond markets have provided growth of wealth that has more than offset inflation.

6

Gain lean exposure utilizing conventional indexing.

- Low cost way to get diversified exposure
- Solid research shows 83% of active managers have not beaten this approach over time.*
- Of the 17% that have beaten this approach, evidence shows low odds of repeating the same outcome.

7

Gain smart exposure, utilizing factor indexing.

- Supported by robust academic research published by Nobel Prize Laureates
- Tilts portfolio to hold more securities with higher return expectations/characteristics
- Approach is well beyond theory, actual results of approach go back to early 1980's.

8

Gain active exposure selectively.

- "Active Share" insights from an approach developed at Yale provides investors with a method of weeding out "closet indexers" and isolating active managers who may be able to add value to a portfolio.
- Six key steps in selecting active managers to augment conventional and factor indexing include a) active share assessment, b) process and methodology assessment, c) portfolio manager tenure assessment, d) organizational structure assessments, e) performance assessment and f) role in portfolio assessment.

9

Practice smart diversification to reduce risks that have no expected return.

Diversification helps reduce risks that have no expected return, but diversifying within your home market is not enough. Global diversification can broaden your investment universe.

10

Avoid the Investor Behavior Penalty.

Seven robust studies on investment behavior and the impact on investment performance show that investors tend to incur a significant cost due to their own behavior.

Instead of playing a difficult-to-win game, investors can be better off selecting sound long-term approaches and avoiding short-term approaches based upon emotions or hunches.
